THE VOICE OF THE ROAD TRANSPORT INDUSTRY IN NSW

Road Freight NSW is the state's own road trucking industry member association, delivering a range of benefits and services to members.

We work to provide our members with advocacy, industry news, alerts, updates, free workplace relations advice, exclusive supplier offers and much more. Our work culminates in an annual conference, bringing members, stakeholders and industry together.

Our membership comprises of road transport operators throughout New South Wales, including a significant presence at our major ports at Newcastle, Port Botany and Port Kembla.

WHO ARE WE?

Since forming 1893, Road Freight NSW has grown to become a respected advocate for trucking operators, working as a conduit to government, regulators and enforcement agencies. Simon O'Hara leads Road Freight NSW and aims to ensure that the organisations sole purpose is to deliver for freight members

We deal with issues including:

- Productivity and safety gains
- Maintenance and compliance
- Speed management
- Access
- Workplace relations
- Driver health and well-being
- Training
- Load restraint
- Fatigue management

Road Freight NSW also addresses sector specific issues relating to ports, dangerous goods and over-size/over-mass access.

OUR ADVOCACY FOCUS

Road Freight NSW represents our members' interests at the state, federal and local government levels, as well as its agencies on a wide range of issues, including:

- Road Safety
- Regulation And Enforcement, including Chain Of Responsibility
- Workplace Health And Safety
- Taxation And Business Regulation
- Infrastructure and Freight Network Planning
- Workplace relations
- Environmental regulation
- Port issues
- Technical issues
- Industry Image, Careers and Training

Road Freight NSW is a member of the Australian Trucking Association with a seat at its council, on its committees and in industry reference groups.
